SJSC Alcohol Problem Handled by Students

ASB Council Passes New Law; Interpretation by Student Court

No action is being contemplated by the administration at San Jose State concerning the drinking of students as was taken by the University of California last week. The problem of college student drinking is being handled by the students themselves, in a democratic way, through the ASB council, Pan-Hellenic Code, and Inter-fraternity council, declared Dean of Men Paul M. Pitman.

Dean of Women Helen Dimmick told the Spartan Daily that "No sorority has liquor at any of their functions or at their houses."

The Pan-Hellenic Code for sororities states: "It is against the policy of San Jose State college to have liquor supplied and, or served by the hostess fraternity at any college affair given by any organization approved."

The ASB council passed a by-law last week which specifically mentioned the "drinking problem." The law reads: Alcoholic beverages are prohibited at all activities sponsored by the ASB.

1. Any person having in his possession an alcoholic beverage at any ASB sponsored activity shall be liable to prosecution by the Student Court.

Mr. Edward Clements, faculty advisor for the Student Council, declared that the new by-law left the interpretation, as to how broad the term "student sponsored" covers, up to the Student Court. "It is doubtful if fraternities come under this ruling," said Mr. Clements.

"Fraternities have a legal responsibility to the state and to their national headquarters, however, concerning the drinking of minors," continued Mr. Clements.

The IFC is discussing three liquor control measures to be added to their constitution, according to Bob Schatz, IFC prexy. A three member liquor control committee has been named by the council.

State to Have Varsity Band

San Jose State will have two bands throughout second and third quarters in order to give all interested students an opportunity to play in a concert organization, according to Dr. Lyle W. Downey, Music department head.

A new group, the Varsity band, will be formed to supplement the present symphonic band.

The Varsity band will rehearse at 12:30 in the auditorium on Tuesday and Thursday, the symphonic band the same hour on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Both men and women will be eligible for either organization.

Placement will be determined by tryouts to take place sometime after the football season and before second quarter registration. The exact date will be announced later.

No student now on campus will be admitted who has not had a tryout. The size of the bands will be determined by the number of applicants. Both groups will appear publicly.

Professor Frederic W. Boots, who will direct both of the bands, made the following comment concerning the desirability of maintaining two separate groups:

"The symphonic band has always been an extremely select

New Jr. College To Be Constructed In West San Jose

San Jose Unified School district filed a suit Wednesday in Superior Court to condemn a 53-acre site in West San Jose to make room for the proposed new San Jose Junior college.

In line with the Strayer committee recommendation that San Jose Junior college be divorced from San Jose State college, the California Department of Education has asked the local school district to separate the campuses.

College President T. W. MacQuarrie said yesterday that he does not look for construction to finish on the new JC for "at least three years. To finance the building program," Dr. MacQuarrie asserted, "a bond issue will have to be promoted, and San Jose voters usually do not support bond issues."

'Faust' Gets Extra Day

Because of the tremendous ticket demand for "Faust" Thursday, Nov. 17 has been added to performance nights, reported Dr. Hugh Gillis, Speech department head. "Faust" will run Nov. 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Tickets are now on sale in room 57, Speech office. Student admission is 60 cents general admission 90 cents.

500 Go South In Car Caravan

A large crowd of Spartans is expected to follow the team to San Diego over the Armistice Day holiday, according to Yvonne Gineste of the Rally committee.

"We expect an automobile caravan of more than 500 rosters for the game," Miss Gineste said. "All those who want transportation or who are taking cars will please sign up in the Student Union."

Miss Gineste will be at the desk in the Student Union from 10:30 to 12:30 daily and after 3:30 daily. After the game there will be a party at "Aztec Village," said Miss Gineste. The game will be on Saturday evening, Nov. 12.

group, as it should be, and has been composed largely of music majors for obvious reasons. However, the symphonic band is not limited to music majors, and anyone on campus who qualifies in his tryout will be admitted.

"A second group is needed," he continued, "to prepare personnel for later work in the symphonic band and to give a greater number of students an opportunity to play."

Students, Profs Hear Walser Say 'UN Is a Success'

"The United Nations is a success," said Mrs. Gladys Walser of New York City, observer for the UN and consultant for UNESCO, in a recent speech given before 300 SJS students and faculty members in the Little Theater.

She quoted a New York newspaper as saying the biggest smash hit of the year is not "South Pacific" but the laying of the cornerstone for the UN in New York City.

"Approach to Peace Through the United Nations" was the topic of the speech. She was introduced by Dr. George Bruntz, associate professor of history and political science.

Mrs. Walser was an observer at the latest general assembly of the UN and brought the audience up to date with the achievements of the UN, said Mr. William Vatcher, social science teacher.

The most impressive event of the meetings she said was when Vishinsky and Dean Acheson shook hands before cameramen and the galleries upon seeing this burst into applause.

Mr. Vatcher said that Mrs. Walser felt that the most effective accomplishment of the UN was the success of Dr. Ralph Bunche, Palestine mediator, and his peace without arms program.

Mrs. Walser recommends that the 15 billions that are to be used for U.S. armaments, should be turned over to UN which could accomplish more toward peace with it, said Mr. Vatcher.

"Marshall Plan money best could be handled by the UN," said Mrs. Walser, "instead of giving it directly to the countries."

Commie Ex-Prof Wishes to Speak

The American Association of University Professors received a letter from Dr. Herbert J. Phillips, Communist ex-professor of philosophy at the University of Washington, requesting permission to speak before the association.

Prof. Harrison F. Heath said the letter was on file, but no action has been taken as yet.

"Even if he were granted the privileges of speaking, it would probably be vetoed by the college administration," he said.

Dr. Phillips made the same request in another letter to the student council, but ASB President Don Schaeffer stated that the council could not sponsor Dr. Phillips' appearance.

Soil Report Made on New Building Site

New Speech Building Will Go Up Between Union and High School

By JOHN CONROY

Architect Ralph Wyckoff, designer of the new $725,963 Speech building, has received the results of a soil exploration conducted recently at the building site by Russell M. Grosman, senior engineer, State Division of Architecture.

The new building, to be erected between the Student Union and San Jose high school, at present is in the planning stage. Tentative plans call for a 180x240 feet, one story building.

The building will contain an auditorium, class rooms, carpentry and scenery shops, a practice theater and a special section for radio training. The building will be one of the most modern educational units of this type in the country.

At the present time Architect Wyckoff is completing building plans. Among the difficult problems faced by the architect was the problem of saving the grove of Roosevelt redwood trees at the building site. After a revision of initial plans the redwoods were saved.

According to Wyckoff, a few minor details still have to be worked out before the plans are completed.

The soil exploration was made to determine which level would offer a minimum amount of settlement for the new structure.

The test cores for the new building were taken to a depth of 15 feet and were three inches in diameter. The test disclosed that from the surface of the area a brown loam extended to a depth of three and a half feet, a bed of yellow from this level to the 15-foot mark, where a blue-black gumbo was encountered.

According to Grosman, the water table of the site is at the 13-foot level. During the early days of San Jose's history a slough ran through the area and was a popular shooting ground for local duck hunters.

The construction date for the building has not been set as yet.

Instructor Back

Mrs. Stella Schuchardt, instructor in the English department, is expected to be back in her classes by Nov. 14, according to Dr. Raymond Barry, head of the college English department.

Mrs. Schuchardt was taken ill suddenly several weeks ago, and was given a temporary leave of absence.

New Women's Gym Has Everything; Except Completion in Late April

"There isn't a modern convenience you can think of that isn't going to be included in the new women's gym," states George Otto, senior construction supervisor for the State of California.

Mr. Otto discloses that the new building will include everything from the best swimming pool in California to hair dryers, a balcony, a towel chute and a complete kitchen. An adaptive gym, a dance gym, larger offices, and the very latest in the way of conveniences will be in the new gymnasium.

The new building should be finished in late April, Mr. Otto states, but unforeseen difficulties and rain could hold up the completion until June.

The building will be put into use as soon as possible. Right now the construction company is installing the last of the footings, in preparation for laying of the foundation, which will start next week.

The swimming pool will be 42 feet wide and 72 feet long. Along the bottom of the tank will be strips of black inlaid tile, to facilitate the use of the pool in races. Fourteen lights will be below the water's surface. A similar pool depth of three feet to five feet, from which it drops rather sharply to 10 feet, then slopes to eight.

A balcony will overlook the pool and a similar one will be included in the dance gym. A completely equipped kitchen will facilitate the serving of refreshments at student body dances.

The main dressing room of the building has 160 dressing stalls, and is equipped with radiant heat, showers, and hair dryers. Replacing the old method of using a towel room, there will be chutes for wet towels and suits, which will be handled downstairs.

The State of California is spending more than a half-million dollars on the construction of the gym, Mr. Otto said.

Few Vet Checks Mailed, Should Arrive Today

Veterans at San Jose State college should start receiving their subsistence checks today, according to Dean of Men Paul M. Pitman.

Dean Pitman said that the Veterans' Administration in San Francisco has notified him that one per cent of the checks would be mailed Nov. 5, and that they should arrive Nov. 7.

By Nov. 20, about 50 per cent of the checks will have been mailed; by Dec. 5, approximately 95 per cent of the checks will be in the mail.

Miss Bernice Van Gundy, secretary to Dean Pitman, said that college loan funds were being overtaxed. She also pointed out that many veterans have applied for part-time employment because they haven't received their checks.

Aspiring Actress Plans To Start Career in N.Y.

While she took time out from working on costumes for "Faust", in which she plays Martha, Shirley Wilber talked happily about her part in the Goethe classic and of her love for the theater.

"Martha is an interesting person," she says. "She is earthy, somewhat coarse, and provides much of the humor in 'Faust'."

Shirley particularly enjoys her part because it is a character role, and it is the type of acting she likes best. She did Moriah in "Margaret Fleming", another favorite, and Goneril in "King Lear". Amalia in "Right You Are", and Senora Kenton in "Rose of the Rancho."

She appeared in "Skylark" and "The Mouse" with the Players' Workshop, a group of students from San Jose who produced plays here during the summer in the Montgomery Theater.

Many actresses have roles they aspire to do, and Shirley once was no exception. "I used to think that being able to do Lady MacBeth or Anna Christie would be the most wonderful thing imaginable," she laughed, "but now I realize that any new part is a challenge and that there is a thrill in anticipating what is just around the corner."

Shirley attended Los Gatos high school before she came to San Jose State, and while there she realized that it was acting about which she cared most.

Her dark eyes sparkle when she talks about the theater and the part she hopes to have in it.

She says that the most important thing about learning a part is "getting the feel of it." Effecting a characterization "from the inside out" is the way Shirley goes at a part, getting the techniques last.

She is a senior and after graduating in June hopes to go to New York.

"The reason every actor wants to go there," Shirley commented, "is not so much for the glamour of the big city, but because everything is there—it is the center of the creative theater."

Sewage Disposal Plants Can Supply Water—Dr. Graf

Communities in and about the Bay area must erect sewage disposal plants in the near future or face prosecution by the state attorney general. Present plans make no provision for the use of purified water from the treatment tanks, points out Dr. William Graf, associate professor of zoology.

Many interested persons have come forth with schemes for improvement of the Santa Clara valley water shortage. Actually, Dr. Graf suggests, sewage disposal plants can supply the valley with more than enough water for normal needs.

May Get 20,000 Acre Feet

In a city the size of San Jose, estimates of purified water from a sewage disposal plant range to 20,000 acre feet a year. The Eastside Farm board believes that enough water could be taken from disposal plants around San Francisco bay to give valley farms as much as three acre feet of irrigation water a year.

Dr. Graf and Dr. A. G. McCallum both agree that they would feel sure of less bacteria in the processed water from the plants than in water from the Kitchen tap. In fact, they offer to drink the water as proof when the plants are put in operation.

"Squeamishness about using purified sewage water is common," smiled Dr. Graf. "And yet fishermen go into the bay and Sacramento river, catch fish and eat them. I venture to say that there would be a much higher bacterial content in the fish than in partially processed sewage water."

Irrigation water could be used to pay for the plant, the professor stated. In addition, methane gas, a by-product of the treatment process, can be used to provide power for the operation of the plant and electric pumps for irrigation.

Various Plans Discussed

"There has been discussion of various proposals for a water supply from Hetch-Hetchy dam, the Columbia river and a fresh-water San Francisco bay under the Reber plan. For a fraction of the cost these plans would entail, a complete irrigation system from sewage disposal plants could be constructed.

"The time is not too far off when the water table will be completely drained. Now citizens of the valley should plan for the future. Theoretically, according to the Eastside Farm board, San Francisco and Oakland have the potential water supply to give us adequate irrigation water and to help raise the table level," Dr. Graf said.

Water in the plants is diluted, filtered and aerated before it is released from the tanks, Dr. Graf commented. Once this operation has been completed, there is no reason why the water should be dumped into the bay and lost forever to agriculture, he asserted.

Voters in San Jose will go to the polls Tuesday to consider, among other propositions, a bond issue for construction of sewage disposal facilities. Dr. Graf said that this plant, if approved, can become a self-sustaining operation and solve the acute water problem in the valley.

Midnight Supper Highlights Dance

A midnight supper will highlight the Dorian club's New Year's eve formal dance, according to Dr. Al Schmoldt, president of the club. The Dorian club is a faculty group formed to give faculty members the opportunity to get together and dance.

"A membership drive is now on," Dr. Schmoldt stated. Belonging to the club will give faculty members the opportunity to attend the New Year's eve dance, a Valentine fantasy on Feb. 11, a Spring fling on April 8, and a dinner dance which will be semi-formal on May 20.

The first dance of this year was held in the Student Union last Saturday evening where more than 30 couples attended. Music was off the record.

Golden Raiders Break Mustangs

By TED BREEDEN

Cal Poly's Mustangs had aspirations of burying the San Jose State Spartans, but found the Spartans had too much life, as they rolled to a 47-0 C.C.A.A. football triumph before 6000 fans at Poly Stadium, Friday night.

Cal Poly made the initial kickoff and the Spartans followed through to make a sustained drive of 85 yards. With Al Cementina and Harry Russell alternating with the ball carrying chores, the Spartans drove from their own 15 to the Poly 20 in 10 plays. Russell took the ball on a reverse and sprinted the 20 yards into the Mustangs' end zone. Woody Linn converted and San Jose led, 7-0.

Just eight seconds had elapsed since Russell's score before the Spartans had added another touchdown. Cal Poly had fumbled the Golden Raiders' kickoff and an alert Archie Chagonjian pounced on the loose ball on the Poly 36. On the first play Quarterback Gene Menges skipped back and tossed to end Billy Wilson, who stepped into the end zone for number two. Linn's kick was wide.

Cal Poly again fumbled the kickoff, however this time they recovered and with Vern Bebernes hurling, the Mustangs drove to the Spartan 10. Spartan guard, Carl DeSalvo, intercepted a Bebernes pass and carried it from the end zone to the Spartan five, thus averting a Mustang score.

Following an exchange of punts the Spartans started another drive from their own 15 which was culminated when Jack Donaldson drove over the Mustang goal line from 2 1-2 yards out. San Jose State went ahead 20-0 when Linn kicked the goal.

Cal Poly was unable to break through the hard charging Spartan line and they were repeatedly forced to kick. On another such exchange of punts the Spartans gained the advantage and took over at midfield. Donaldson worked the ball down to the Mustang 33 where Gil Mendosa squirted through the middle for another State score. "Mr. 300" again converted.

With the start of the second half, State leading 27-0, Buddy Traina returned to the Spartan lineup. Traina, marked his initial ball carrying assignment since he was injured in the Santa Clara game, Sept. 24, by galloping 21 yards. Midway in the third period Traina charged the final five yards to score against the crumbling Mustangs. Linn's boot was blocked by Mustang tackle Grover Harader.

Poloists in 10-5 Win at Cal Poly

Overpowering a home team surge, San Jose's water polo team beat Cal Poly, 10-5, Friday afternoon in San Luis Obispo. Third in a row for the Spartans, the win was secured by a four-goal burst near the finish. Up to then the Polyites, who even scored first, had given State a rough time.

George Haines scored four goals for high-point honors.

Purdy Prances Spartan's Win

San Jose State's cross country team maintained their unbeaten record as they rolled successfully over the visiting Cal Poly squad Saturday morning, 20-35.

Coach Walt Bealey, recently joining weepers Frank Leahy and "Pappy" Waldorf, saw his ever potent harriers topple with ease the team he has feared throughout the past week.

Co-captains Doc Purdy outdid himself as he surpassed all previous performances in winning the 3 1-2 mile event in 18 minutes, 36 seconds. Cal Poly's John Leslie trailed in just 20 seconds later. Poly's Walt Boehm, suffering a touch of flu, led at the 1 1-4 mile mark, but faded to take last place and fifth place points for the Mustangs.

All the Spartans demonstrated a marked improvement as Coach Bealey's well balanced squad took seven of the first ten places. Al Weber, third; Jim Simpson, fourth; ailing Marlon Day, fifth; Norman Bettelo, seventh; Bill Head, ninth; and Neil Williams, 10th.

Water Poloists To Meet Cal

San Jose's water poloists get a chance at the leaders of the PCC this Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in Berkeley. California's Bears, who have defeated Stanford, USC, and a very good COP club, will host the improving Spartans.

The Tigers beat the Bears, 6-4, in Stockton earlier in the season, last Wednesday lost to Cal in Berkeley, 8-7.

The price of Cal's student body card has risen to $12.50.

Aztecs Next State Foe

The San Jose State Spartans play their second away game in as many weeks Friday when they enplane to San Diego for a CCAA clash with the San Diego State Aztecs.

Coach Bill Schutte's San Diegans have found the going rather rough this season, although the squad looks exceptionally good on paper. In comparative scores against two opponents the Spartans hold a definite edge.

The Aztecs were pressed in kicking out a 9-7 victory over Pepperdine, while San Jose turned the trick with ease, 49-12. College of LeBaron romped, 62-14, over Mr. Schutte's men, and 45-7 over San Jose State.
